ABOUT

Alexandra Nechita

From a very young age, Alexandra Nechita has been hailed as a true artistic force; affectionately dubbed “Petite Picasso” by the media and art community alike. Today, Nechita is globally acclaimed for her monumental paintings and sculptures.

Born in Romania in August of 1985, Alexandra immigrated to the United States at just one and a half years old. She began drawing as a toddler and at the age of seven was working with oil paints and acrylics.

By eight years old she held her first solo exhibition at a local Los Angeles Library. Nechita quickly grabbed the attention of art critics and the media who began telling the world about this rare child prodigy - a master of line and color – an artist with a visual language of her own.

A Brush With Greatness?

She's getting the kind of notice other painters would give their left ear for. She's been compared to Picasso and Matisse. Her first work sold for $50. Today, try $80,000. Is 10-year-old Alexandra Nechita for real?

PAINTING LIKE PABLO

Kid cubist Alexandra Nechita sells her Picasso-like artworks for thousands

A 10-YEAR-OLD ARTIST IN PARIS. Picasso nearly starved. Rembrandt died impoverished, and Van Gogh never made money from his work. Still, not one of them ever had to get by on a $5-a-week allowance from Mom and Dad, which is the situation Alexandra Nechita finds herself in.

Nechita is 10 years old. Her parents, which rented some of the most expensive homes in the world, have been in the art world for decades. Her mother, a former model, and her father, a former actor, are both artists. They have a son, a daughter, and a son. Alexandra is the youngest. She is the only one of them who is an artist.

Having an after-school job is exciting, but 12-year-old Alexandra Nechita goes to school, does her homework, then changes the world of modern art in an instant.

You might know her as "The Petite Picasso." But Alexandra Nechita's artistic accomplishments are anything but small, and her style is all her own.

peal

In 1996, we met 11-year-old Alexandra Nechita, a child prodigy who was taking the art world by storm. Critics compared her to Picasso and some of her canvasses were being sold for more than $100 thousand Nechita's work has developed over the years to encompass her growth and transition as a woman, mother and simply a humanist on a profound and endless search for greater purpose. Each piece is an expression of personal sentiments and that intimacy and storytelling continues to be the prism through which she navigates her creative vocabulary.

ALEXANDRA NECHITA

"My own experiences, and my own failures are a key source of inspiration for me. As a woman, I'm really interested in this idea of forced femininity that gets put on us. It's something that's been really important in my work."

PUBLIC WORK

The Romanian Athenaeum Park Installation

Public Art Installation
Commissioned by the City Of Bucharest

This body of work was made as a tool to help democratize the art experience by virtue of public display.

ALEXANDRA NECHITA

This ensemble of 8 sculptures function both literally and figuratively as a dialogue about duality and paradoxes. Formally speaking, the sculptures themselves are duplicitous in their composition and structure. Thematically, Nechita wanted to address the duality between what is and what is not, the parallels and the contradictions that exist between reality and fantasy, between duty and aspiration. The concept of time and timing as a judge of our fate, is represented in the seemingly intangible whimsy of each piece; the past, the present, the future, our human nature to incessantly put up a fight against time. This body of work is a reconciliation of all these conflicts.

PUBLIC WORK

Alexandra Nechita Re:imagined

Alexandra recently debuted her latest Collection entitled “Alexandra Nechita RE:imagined,” an extraordinary new body of work that toured in North America in 2019 and early 2020. These works represent the years and growth between her time as a celebrated prodigy and the now mature artist who sees the world through a different lens.

PUBLIC WORK

The Beverly Hills Hotel

In November of 2022, Alexandra partnered with The Beverly Hills Hotel to bring her distinct artistic perspective to the hotel's legendary landscape.

Inspired by the hotel's signature pink and green color palette and distinctive Martinique Banana Leaf printed walls, Nechita created a series of 10 canvases, and a set of stainless steel flat and fiber-glass sculptures that encapsulate the elegance and luxury of The Beverly Hills Hotel through Nechita's artistic lens.

"As an artist, I am constantly searching for points of intersection that excite me, that authentically facilitate my creative expression, more importantly that give me an opportunity to story-tell. The hotel represents to me an emblematic legacy. It serves as a place where I create memories with my family, a source of inspiration, and a space to reset and refuel even if that just means pancakes at the Fountain Coffee Room."

PUBLIC WORK

Beverly Hills Hotel

As part of The Beverly Hills Hotel partnership, Alexandra also teamed up with gift shop favorite, SHHH SILK, an Australian luxury sleepwear brand, to design a collection of silk pieces including pajamas and robes for both adults and children, hair accessories, and eye masks to compliment Nechita's artwork created for the hotel.

Many of the collection pieces feature embroidery of Nechita's dove, a recurring symbol that can be seen in her work since she was a child.

PUBLIC WORK

Love Anatomy

Alexandra installed her 9ft bronze sculpture, Love Anatomy, in the heart of Beverly Hills in early 2021.

Welcoming visitors as they drive down Burton Way, the impressionable work of art undoubtedly comes at a time that the city needs an inspiring symbol of unity.

ALEXANDRA NECHITA

"Love Anatomy for me represents this eternal question and quest for the answers—what is the internal and external makeup of love? What are the inner workings of love? I made this sculpture in pursuit of understanding the structure and internal workings of love. My idea of love from the time of inception of this piece to now has evolved beyond measure. It has been reshaped by my own growth and personal relationships with others and myself."

PUBLIC WORK

7 For All Mankind Partnership

In honor of International Women's Day, 7 For All Mankind partnered with Alexandra Nechita to design bespoke pieces in support of the International Rescue Committee to celebrate women everywhere.

The 7 For All Mankind x Alexandra Nechita pieces include an embroidered line drawing by the artist, featuring a portrait of a woman.

To celebrate the launch Alexandra hosted an event at the 7 For All Mankind store at the Century City Mall in Los Angeles.

Sing For Hope

City of Beverly Hills, and the Wallis Annenberg
Center for the Performing Arts

"What I strive for is really trying to democratize the arts and making it an experience for everyone"

Sing For Hope is one of the world's largest annually recurring public arts projects, placing artist-designed pianos in parks and public spaces for anyone and everyone to play, sparking impromptu music-making and connection, creating joy and community, bringing people together.

Nechita was one of the chosen artists to paint a piano for the Summer 2021 series, in which her piano, "Sing It Loud," was the highlighted art piece for the inaugural event. Her piano is on permanent display at Beverly Hills High School for all to enjoy.

Set The Stage Los Angeles Mural

Public Art Mural

Commissioned by the Hollywood Partnership Committee

For me, the art experience should stand unapologetically strong in its power to generate messaging through it and this mural represents how profoundly engaging imagery can be.

Her latest public art project is a larger than life mural recreating her "Set The Stage" canvas painting which is displayed on the iconic corner of Hollywood and Highland, commissioned by The Hollywood Partnership committee and and Arts Bridging The Gap, an organization that brings arts programs to children in undeserved areas through immersive arts programs. The mural was unveiled in November of 2021.

Paintings

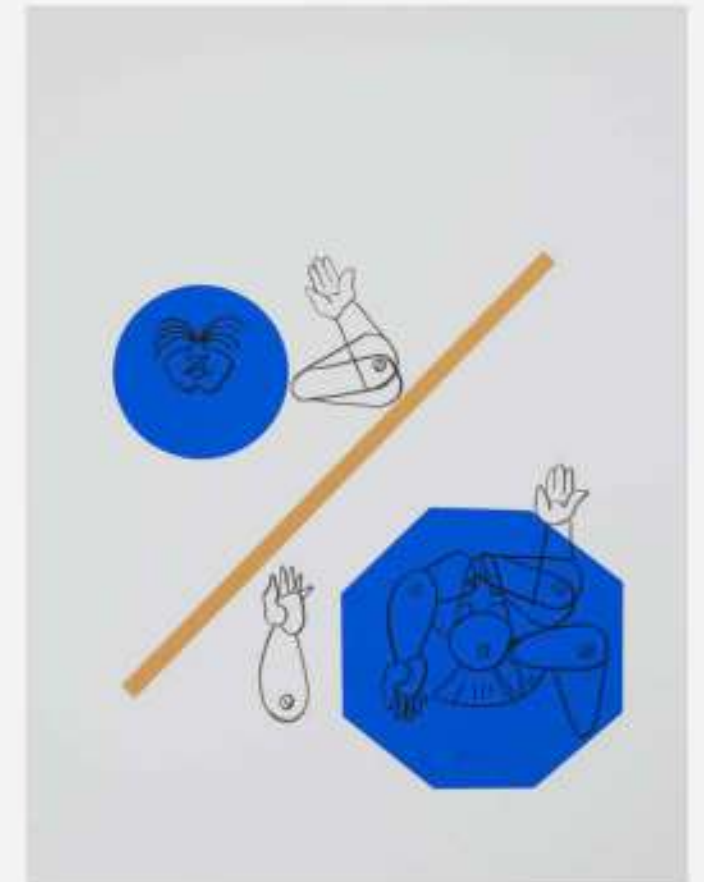

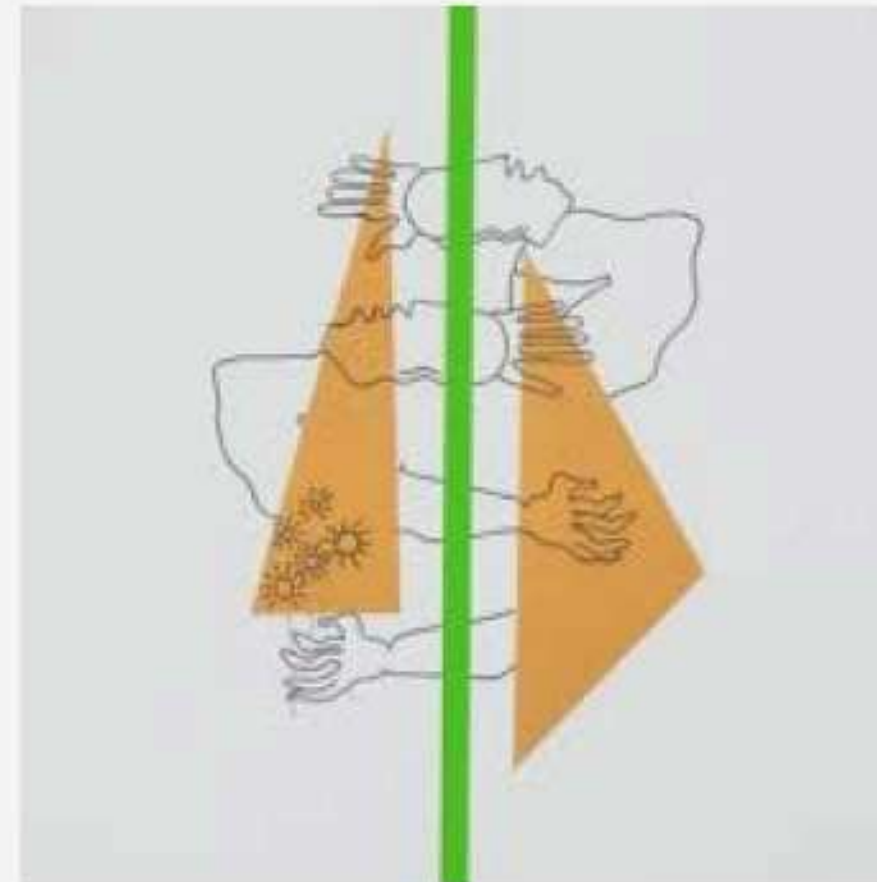

"For as long as I have known possibilities, I have known painting. For me it has been the ultimate vehicle. When people have failed me, when words have failed me, when my mood has failed me, I have turned to my paints."

Within her paintings, Alex strives to articulate a subversive and playful female identity. She searches deep within for things that must be said. She wants her passion for the materiality of the body and the action of painting, to surface with each image she makes. She aims to reveal the tactile relationship she has with her materials, and in turn, for that to manifest itself in the reoccurring subjects of the human figures in her work.

Line Drawings

"Her line shapes a lyrical geometry inviting us to discover the relevance of shapes and to define shape and space."

Nechita has treated drawing as a confirmation of her imagination and a reflection of her visions and convictions. Ideas are committed to paper in order to present Alexandra's understanding of the world, her world.

WORK

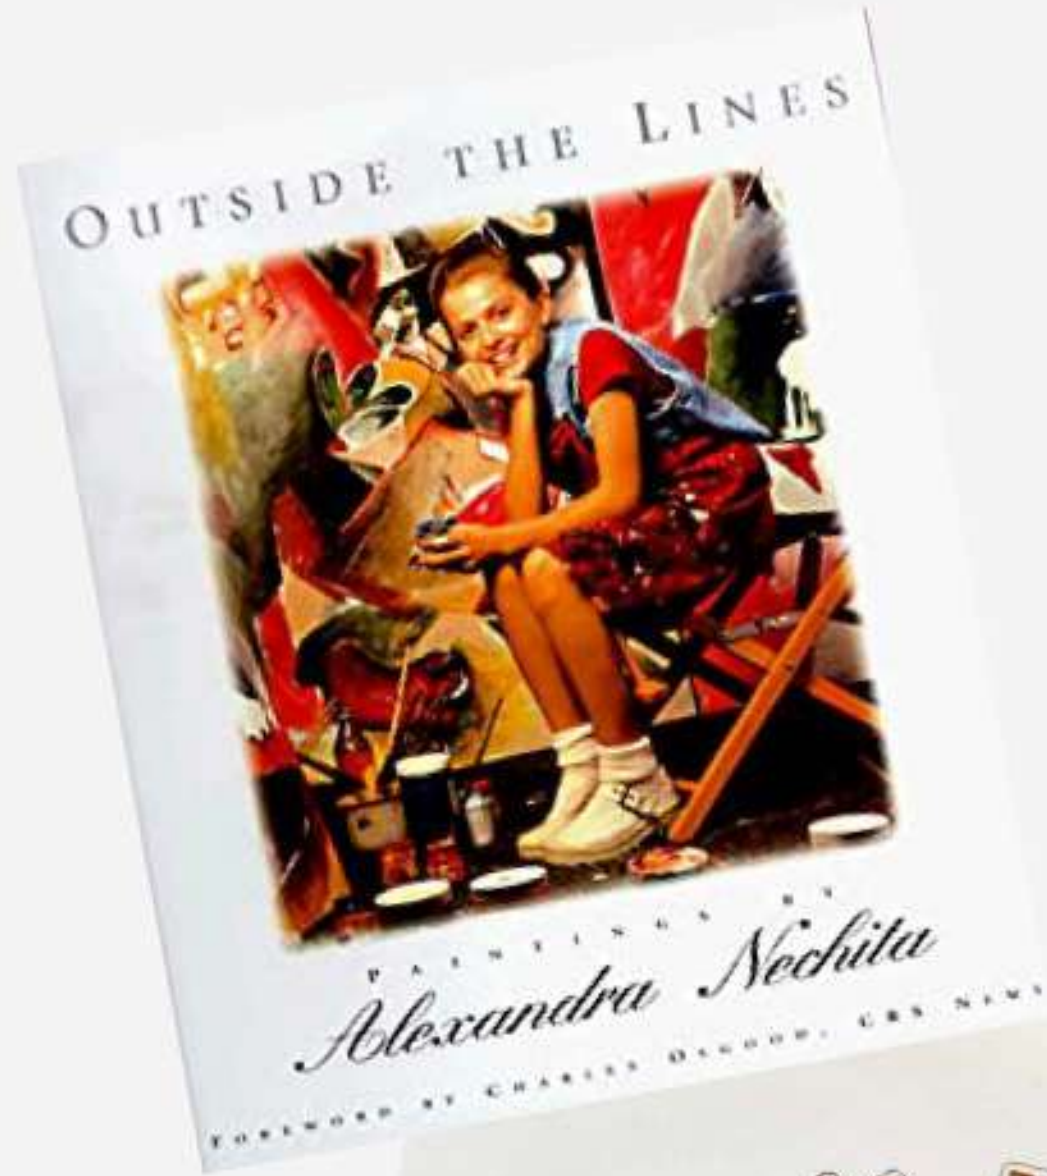

Sculptures

"With my recent delving into the land of so-called sculpture, I have re-examined the function of a three-dimensional object and really challenged the fundamental formalities of what we are taught as being surface."

Nechita is known for her larger than life bronze sculptures, however, she is a master of working with multiple mediums and her metal and glass sculptures are equally sought after.
